Ruling Limits Talent Use In Campaign

Speeches between classes, in which candidates present their platforms, will replace so-called "three-ring circus" entertainment in primary campaigns for student body officers next week, election committee chairman Larry Whetten, Ephraim, declared Tuesday.

However, the entertainment ban will be lifted at 5 p.m. Tuesday, April 6, the first day of campaigning, added Mr. Whetten, and candidates may use talent numbers in their election programs until 10:30 p.m. Entertainment may also be used from 5 to 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 7. This ruling may be modified for the final election campaigns.

The no-entertainment-between-classes ruling came as a result of dissatisfaction with past student body election campaigns. Many students have expressed their reluctance to engage in talent-show type of campaign. Often the entertainment has continued into class periods and has aroused the concern of the administration.

Mr. Carnick played in several summer shows at the University of Utah. He studied dancing in Los Angeles where he had a scholarship with the Lester Horton Dance Company of Hollywood. While with this company he appeared in movies and concerts.

In 1952-53 he was a member of the Choro Group and participated in its Chicago and New York debuts. Mr. Carnick has also danced in the Ted Shalum all-star dance festival and at Jackson's Follow, Los Angeles.

Treasurer candidate Miss Wagstaff gives her platform, "I want to thank you for the support and me in the primaries and if elected I will do everything in my power to handle the funds of AWS in a successful way and also to fulfill all the other duties of the office. Suggestions Are Given For April Fool Pranksters Ever had the urge to play Russian Roulette with all six chambers loaded with your best "friend"? Ever had the fiendish desire to yell "Fire!" in a darkened movie just when the killer is about to be revealed to the audience?

Once a year comes that privilege of using up all those practical jokes you've been saving by celebrating April Fool's Day with intimate acquaintances. (Acquaintances can be defined as friends and "friends.") Jokes can vary from sprinkling itching powder on the phone mouthpiece to setting the alarm clock back a couple of hours before retiring.

Try This

If you have loftier ambitions take note of this ingenious soul who published an ad in the local paper reading: "Today is the last day to send in your dollar. Hurry now. Send it to such-and-such an address." Ironically the scheme worked. But how can you spend $10,000 sitting in the Federal pen?

If your roommates insist on making like the Chinese via chopsticks at mealtime, solve your problem by rubber cementing the ends together. Then sit back and watch the fun as they vainly try to manipulate them.

For More Laughs

Or better still if your "roomies" prefer good old American utensils to commence the daily exercising of their blouses, sew the "hardware" strongly to the tablecloth very carefully so that the stitches don't show. If you've done a good job, the results should be rewarding.

Of course if you don't care to be too original, there's always the magic of changing the sugar to salt in the sugarbowl. Or if you can obtain "real" spiders, two-headed coins, and "peppermint" gum from the diemstore.

Just remember—anything goes on April Fool's day—but don't get upset if your best "friend" tries to poison your milk. After all—each to his own taste.

HEART TALKS—Trained counselors on the staff of the Counseling Service offer personal guidance to many Brigham Young University

Unique Faculty Advisor Counseling System Offered To Help Students Solve Problems

by Colleen Young — Universe Staff Writer

Brigham Young University students who are interested in making wise choice, and adjusting to university life have at their disposal one of the finest counseling services to be found on any university campus.

It is composed of counselors who are more than just faculty members. They have had special training in their field, and their philosophy is that they shall assist the university in every way possible to meet more fully the needs of its students.

They want to help students solve critical life problems, and find their proper place in university activities. Too many students do not realize this, and as a result have failed to take full advantage of this special service.

Offers Service

In an effort to help students make choices wisely, the BYU counseling service has set up a procedure which uses the best techniques and tools of analysis that education has to offer.

According to Dr. Antoine K. Romney, chairman of the counseling service, "It is not the purpose of this service to give advice or armchair counsel, its purpose is to give specialized, objective information which will aid the student in making his own decisions. This is the only way a student can grow and learn to solve his own problems," he declared.

Through this service each student is given an opportunity to examine the records of all of his previous school years. While doing this he may ask questions, and receive information as to how he may analyze his opportunities and understand his own chances for success or failure.

Problems Solved

Here the trained counselor has the opportunity to discover the problems of the student—the health, the housing, the school load, the social activity, and whatever else may concern him.

"We can not make bright students out of dull ones," said Dr. Romney, "but we can help prevent many nervous breakdowns and assist students in solving their important scholastic and personal problems."

Scholarship Won By Quinn McKay

Quinn G. McKay, BYU student-body president, is the recipient of one of the three $100 scholarships for spring quarter study awarded by the national council of Delta Phi Honorary Fraternity.

The choice of Mr. McKay was announced recently by Harold H. Smith of Heber City, grand president of the fraternity. Other scholarship winners are James C. Hoffman of USAC and LeGrande J. Heston of College of Southern Utah.

Winners were selected on the basis of character and academic achievement by the scholarship committee of the John A. Wilder Foundation, an organization recently formed to sponsor a more extensive scholarship program as a memorial to the late Dr. Wilder who for many years was president of the Delta Phi fraternity.

Two Faculty Members Journey to Montana U

Dr. Reuben D. Law, Dean of the College of Education, and Golden Woolf, professor of secondary education, returned recently from University of Montana at Missoula, where they attended a conference of the American Association of College Teachers.

While attending the conference they served on a committee to evaluate teacher's educational progress at the University of Montana.

Choruses Will Be Featured At Conference

Again this year, the combined choruses from Brigham Young University will furnish music for two sessions of the spring General Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in Salt Lake City.

Under the batons of Dr. Don L. Earl and Crawford Gates of the music faculty, the 566-piece group will sing for both conference sessions on Monday. Sessions will be held at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Salt Lake Tabernacle.

At the morning session, the group will sing "And The Glory of The Lord" from "The Messiah" by Handel, "Gentle Spirit" by Shubert, and an arrangement of "The Spirit of God Like a Fire Is Burning" by J. J. Koeler, University organist.

Mr. Gates will be the afternoon chorus conductor when the group sings "How Blest Are They" by Tschalkowsky, the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah," and Mr. Gates' arrangement of "Come, Come, Ye Saints," which he originally arranged for the Utah Centennial musical production, "Promised Valley."

Educators Attend Accrediting Meet

Several staff members of the College of Education attended the annual spring Conference of School Administrators held in Salt Lake City last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Dr. Golden Wolf, Dr. Sterling Callahan and Prof. Rowan Stutz, all of the Department of Secondary Education, were featured on the program for the principals and advisors of secondary education.

Prof. Hazel Bowen and other staff members of the elementary education department attended the sessions for their group. In addition, Dr. Reuben D. Law, Dean of the College of Education, Prof. Percy Burrup and Prof. Owen Burnett attended the conference.

Dr. Law stated that this conference is an annual event and includes representatives from throughout the state for the purpose of entering ideas and programs for airing before the group.

Campus Station Inaugurates Morning Musical Program

An innovation in broadcasting at BYU, the student voice of Brigham Young University, began last week with the inauguration of a daily "Morning Melody" show, according to Owen Rich, faculty adviser.

The new program will be presented from 7 to 8 each morning, Monday through Friday, with a different disc jockey taking over for an hour each morning, he announced.

Better Reception

Mr. Rich pointed out the better reception possible for KBYU in the morning, because the 50,000 watt, clear-channel station signals are less audible during daylight hours. The station operates on a frequency of 660 kilocycles.

Owen Benson, Ephraim, has been named the station's Tuesday program director, replacing Bob Keate, Overton, Nev., resident. Carmel Collett, Provo, student manager. The program directors held over from last quarter are Monday, Mel Gourdin, North Hollywood, Calif.; Wednesday, Roger Haglund, Los Angeles, Calif.; Thursday, Larry Peterson, South Lethbridge, Alta., Canada; Friday, J. Monson, Mt. Pleasant.

New Staff Members

New additions to the staff this quarter include Andy Mostert, Provo; Bob Nelson, Spanish Fork; Richard Gallely, Preston, Ida.; Doug Spainhower, Payson; Grant Dutky, Los Angeles, Calif.; Gary Lewis, Provo; Pat Nelson, Miss Collett added.

Lecture Series To Open Tomorrow

Outstanding businessmen from all fields have been chosen to speak to the annual spring lecture series on executive policy, which opens Friday.

Grant Taggart, who for more than a third of a century has averaged insurance sales exceeding a million dollars a year, will be the first speaker. The series, Marketing III, will be held at 3:30 in 270 Physical Science building.

Mr. Taggart, special representative of California-Western States Life Insurance Company, served as president of the National Association of Life Underwriters in 1942-43. In Fortune Magazine he was honored as one of the nation's top ten insurance salesmen; in "The Insurance Field" he was named "Mr. Life Insurance."

Wayne Mayhew, senior partner of Wayne Mayhew and Company, will be the following speaker, Monday at 5:30. Mr. Mayhew's accounting firm employs approximately 35 accountants and has offices in six cities.

IK's Initiate 23 Men In Rituals

Initiated into full knighthood in Intercollegiate Knights, national honorary service fraternity, were 23 former pages who took the IK ritual, Monday.

Activities of the group include undersher at assemblies, lyceums and athletic events, running wing and ticket sales booths, operating hat and coat check stand, moving planes for lyceums and ringing the Old Y Bell.

Lighting Y

An activity primarily reserved for the pages is the traditional lighting of the Y, from which the BYU Gold Y chapter derives its name.

With their sister organization, the Y Calcears, the Knights sponsor Belle of the Y week which has recently concluded, and Hello week, at the beginning of the school year. The local IK chapter expects to send a large delegation to the national convention early in April at Ellensburg, Wash.

Since establishment at BYU in 1941, the Gold Y chapter has become one of the strongest of the organization's thirty chapters in the northwestern United States. It has been led last year by Glenn Miller, Honorable Duke.

THE JUNIOR PROM

The Junior Prom, in the planning stage since autumn quarter, becomes a reality, Friday and Saturday evenings. Probably no other student activity is subject of such intensive and prolonged planning, nor has a bigger budget.

Tabbed annually as the social highlight, this year's Prom will be no exception. Norm Jackson and his committee have accomplished their tasks with commendable enthusiasm and foresight.

Prospective prom goers may experience some difficulty in scheduling their social activities this weekend. In addition to the Prom, there are nightly productions of Tennessee Williams' play "The Glass Menagerie," Saturday evening, in the George Albert Smith Fieldhouse, there will be a direct line broadcast of the Priesthood meeting of annual conference.

Cooperative arrangements are being completed to assure smooth coordination between the two groups using facilities at the Fieldhouse, Saturday evening.

It is to be hoped that students will attend the Prom. The committee has worked to lower prices, ease clothing restrictions, and plan an evening of activities available to all students.

The Prom is the dessert on the social menu. It's the favorite display in the social show-features date on the social calendar—the main event. It's the tops.

See you there.

AN EXPLANATION

There have been some recent enquiries as to why the Brigham Young University is not published daily, or at least three times weekly. The editors have discussed this problem in many editorial meetings. The following reasons are cited for not making a major change in publication dates.

Copies of many typical college newspapers are received through exchange and are on file in the Universe office. The average daily is a four-page edition.

The only major advantage that a daily publication has over Universe publication dates is that of timeliness. The Universe feels that there are certain advantages in our present publication system that overcome this disadvantage.

The society page of the Universe is a classic example of what a four-page paper cannot do in its limited space. There simply is not space in a four-page daily for all of the important news events, let alone society notes and pictures.

Furthermore, the featured drawings of our basketball stars, occupying space on pages six and seven, would have been impossible in a four-page paper, unless advertising had been abandoned.

As another consideration, the Universe feels that it gives a special and worthwhile service to the student body through such presentations as the year-long Know Your University series, Talent of the Week, and other similar features which add spice, variety and human interest to the newspaper.

These elements are, according to top journalists, essential to the success of any newspaper.

The Universe does not mean it imply that four-page dailies do not publish their share of features. Quite the contrary. An example is a recent issue from a sister institution, in which editors gave themselves 224 column inches on the front page.

Theoretically, the 50 pages published by the dailies should have more news coverage than the 16 pages published by the Universe. However, remember the basketball features, pictures, the society pages, and special information series.

Remember, also, that five of those 20 pages are front pages, which in a week's time, have repetitions of several key stories, whereas in the Universe, front pages are front pages, thus cutting down the necessity of repetition without additional information.

The purpose of the convention, according to Director Farr, is to discuss and learn new methods and trends in women's counseling.

Freshman Fellows Are Dinner Guests

"Highly successful" was the term used by Claudia Sedgwick, newly appointed freshman secretary, to describe the fund-raising class party last Saturday night.

Approximately 70 boys bought dinners from an equal number of freshman girls and all money was donated to the class treasury. The boys came as dinner guests to the apartments of girls living in family life units.

Following the dinner was a dance at the social hall. The more than 200 class members present took part in the evening's program which included mixers, dancing, refreshments, and vocal entertainment.

Interested girls are asked to contact Miss Hobbs, Thursday and Friday from 3:15 to 4:15 p.m. in the studentbody office, 170 Student Service Center.

Scrumptious Banana Ice Cream Can Be After-Prom Specialty

If you're in a quandry as what to do after the prom, don't fret, here is a dish which will knock your gallant escort off his feet if followed accurately. It's banana ice cream made in your own little palace and tasting like the real thing or better.

Post Prom Party

Just invite the crowd over for post-prom partying, slip them this taste-tingler and your problems are over. Today's specialty isn't as fattening as commercial ice cream, and there is no stirring or churning to be done.

Follow the Directions

1. Place in bowl: One cup of mashed bananas.
2. Stir in 3 tablespoons of light corn syrup
3. 1/2 cup powdered sugar
4. 3/4 teaspoon vanilla

3. Chill.

4. Put into ice cube tray of the refrigerator one cup Sego (this is a plug) canned milk and chill till ice crystals begin to form.
5. Beat the ice-cold canned milk until stiff and fold into the banana mixture.

Freeze without stirring in a refrigerator tray at the coldest temperature until firm. This recipe serves four.

Added Effect

Top the finished product with sliced bananas or fluffy white marshmallow topping and brighten up the effect with a marsh-cherry and serve with your favorite cookies or cake. After this heavenly dish, your guests will make you number one hostess on their list.

Graduate, Education Students Examinations Will Be Given

Several important tests are scheduled in the near future according to Vernon Jensen, Brigham Young University testing director.

The College of Education has scheduled an entrance test for all students who wish to get into the college, April 10 at 8 a.m. in the Joseph Smith Auditorium.

General Educational Development tests will be administered in the Joseph Smith Library on April 8 and 9 from 1-6 p.m. BYU maintains an agency of the Veterans Testing Service of the Educational Testing Service for the purpose of administering GED tests.

All graduates seeking an advanced degree must take a graduate examination. Deadline for applications of those who wish to take this test, is April 16. The test will be given on May 1, at 8:45 a.m., in room 350 P.S. building.

Application forms and information regarding tests may be obtained at the office of the testing division, 243 Engineering.

Withdrawals Valid To Quarter's End

Students wishing to withdraw from classes may do so "up until and including the last day of the quarter," according to Dr. Selby Clark, chairman of scholarships and financial aids.

Dr. Clark said classes dropped during the first three weeks of the quarter will not be recorded. The next three weeks a W (withdrawal) will be recorded on the grade reports. After six weeks passing or failing marks will be recorded along with the "W", but Dr. Clark added no credit will be lost or gained.

Withdrawals must be made by obtaining a withdrawal card from the IBM office and procuring signatures of Deans or advisors and the class instructors. Cards are then returned to the IBM office within a three day period.

Campus MIA Readies Play

The combined Mutual Improvement Association organizations of Campus and North Campus Branches will present the Easter drama, "The Vigil," at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Joseph Smith Auditorium. The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

"The Vigil" is the story of a small-town gardener on a charge of grave-robbing. Actually, however, it is the trial of Christ, as is revealed when such people as Mary Magdalene, Pontius Pilate, Joseph of Arimathea, Saul of Tarsus, Simon Peter, and others are included in the parade of witnesses, a striking parallel between modern and Biblical times is portrayed.

Julie Groberg, junior drama major from Idaho Falls, is director of the play.

Election Policies

Since some before the students between classes and their qualifications and platforms, the election committee and executive council have to reduce the campaign to the capabilities and worthiness of the candidates.

Brody, Yler, elections committee member, stated, in support of the new rulings, "This system will encourage the students to vote for the candidate rather than the campaign."

Primary campaigning will begin April 6 at 6 a.m. and will end at 10:30 p.m. April 7. Candidates must end campaigning each day by 10:30 p.m. All posters and other campaign paraphernalia must be removed from the campus by 5 p.m. Tuesday, April 7.

Primary elections will be held April 8 and 9.

Petitions for students running for executive, class, and Associated Men Students offices are due at the student coordinator's office 11:30 a.m. 3 p.m.

Nominating Convention

A nominating convention in which all candidates will be introduced will meet Friday at 4:15 p.m. in room 270 Physical Science building. The elections committee stressed that it is mandatory for all candidates and their campaign managers to attend the meeting.

No time will be allotted for campaign speeches. All candidates will be given a copy of the campaign rules and any questions will be aired at the convention. The meeting will be open to all students, added the committee.

Mr. Whetten asks all nominees to check the ASBYU constitution for the scholastic requirements for candidates. For the various positions there are certain specifications as to number of hours, grade point average, and length of time at BYU. Because of the expenses involved in campaigning, Whetten advises the candidates to contact several photo studios before having their campaign pictures taken, so that they can get the most reasonable rate.

Ball Sets Summer Calendar

Registration for Brigham Young University summer school 1964, will begin June 14. It was announced today by Dr. Arlie Ball, dean.

Applications for admission, due May 8, and classwork for the first term begins on June 15. While students may register for both terms separately, Dr. Ball has urged that students register for both terms as soon as is convenient.

Dr. Ball has also suggested that students who could possibly finish their work for graduation by the end of summer quarter should do so in order that they may participate in the summer commencement exercises on August 20.

Calendar of Events

A calendar of events has been outlined in order to give students an idea of educational and recreational program.

Among the events scheduled are an opera, and various other musical and dramatic offerings. Sports events and dances, and the annual Timpangos hike, which will be held between terms.

Other events of interest will be workshops in audio-visual instruction, art printmaking, language arts, and the summer music festival and summer music clinic as well as a special lecture series conducted by the College of Education, dealing with issues and topics of current interest.

Conferences Also Planned

Several conferences will be held, among which will be the Parents Association conference for state, district and city directors of adult education, and a family life institute and clinic on family living.

Campus Housing, Employment, Audio-Visual Services, and other campus facilities will be in full operation and available for student use.

The University will publish a four-page issue every Friday, in an effort to keep students informed of campus events.

Scholastic Instruction

There are approximately forty regular departments of instruction at BYU during summer session. An elementary training school and a secondary training school are maintained in the College of Education.

The university now offers many courses in the summer on a quarter basis. These courses are so coordinated that the work of the second term is a logical extension of the first term. The rest of the courses are organized on a five-week term basis.

For additional information and help with registration, students are urged to contact Dr. Ball's office.

Grades To Be Out Soon

Winter quarter grades will be out "early next week," according to Dean Wesley P. Lloyd. definite time for grade release has not been set.

Grades will be distributed outside if weather permits and inside if bad weather prevails.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING

IF every man and woman who owns stock in the Union Oil Company were to meet in one place it would take a ball park larger than Ebbets Field to hold them.

For over 40,000 people own shares in this company.
The largest shareholder owns less than 1%.

Illustrating once again that Union Oil—like so many large American companies—is not the exclusive property of a few people.

It is, rather, a partnership of thousands of wage earners and investors who are venturing their savings to make a profit. This is the American way.
